MOSCOW, March 17. /TASS/. "Gazprom" transit through Ukraine is supplied with gas for Europe in the amount of 42.1 million cubic meters. m per day through the gas measuring station (GIS) "Suja." The application for pumping through "Sead" was rejected by the Ukrainian side, a representative of the company told reporters.

Gazprom supplies Russian gas for transit through the territory of Ukraine in the amount confirmed by the Ukrainian side through the Sudzha GIS - 42.1 million cubic meters. m on March 17. The application for the GIS "Savelovka" was rejected," he said. On Saturday, March 16, the volume of pumping amounted to 42.4 million cubic meters. The m.

Earlier on the website of the "Operator of the GTS of Ukraine" (OGTSU) it was reported that the transit of gas through the territory of Ukraine on March 17 may be about 42.1 million cubic meters. The m.

The transit line through Ukraine remains the only route for Russian gas supplies to Western and Central European countries. The pumping on the "Nord stream" has been stopped. Gas supplies on the "Turkish stream" and "Blue Flow" are intended for Turkey and the countries of South and South-Eastern Europe.

Deliveries of Russian gas go through Ukraine in a reduced volume since May 2022, when OGTSU reported the cessation of transit to Europe through the station "Spareka" due to force majes: the company allegedly cannot control the compressor station "Novopskov" in the LPR. However, the Russian gas holding company saw no grounds for stopping the pumping in the same mode.

In the autumn of 2022, Naftogaz of Ukraine filed an application for arbitration to the International Arbitration Court against Gazprom for allegedly late payment for gas transportation services on the territory of Ukraine. The head of "Gazprom" Alexey Miller said that this arbitration is illegitimate and the participation of the Russian holding in the process is pointless. At the same time, Russia may impose sanctions against Naftogaz in the event of further unfair actions by the Ukrainian company, which will make any relations with it impossible.
